Description

“Quintum minute repeater” draw its origin from the ancient Chinese civilization and represents the five elements or the four cardinal points seen from the earth: the water in the north, represented by the Turtle enlaced by the Snake, black; the metal to the west, represented by the celestial Tiger, white; the Fire in the south, figured by the Chinese Red Phoenix or the Bird Vermilion, red; the Wood in the east, represented by the Dragon, blue-green or turquoise; and finally the Earth in the center, represented by the Unicorn or Qi-Lin, kind of chimera, yellow. These five elements are important in the composition of the sky, the constellations and the Chinese astrology.
